

TRANSGRESSOR FACES GUN OF MAN HE WRONGS

Spared on Impulse of Husband's Memory of His Own Children.

Stephen Ward was fined $25 and Mrs. Harriet Carter was dismissed on charges of disorderly conduct by Magistrate D. J. Cleland in police court this morning in a sensational case involving complete confessions by the man and woman of an eternal triangle offense that nearly led to a tragedy this morning at 2307 Fifth avenue, Mrs. Carter's home.

Ward, who is a bachelor living with his father near the Carter home, faced death at the point of a revolver in the hands of Guy Carter, the woman's husband, who said he spared the malefactor's life because of a sudden impulse which led him to lower the gun at the thought of his two children in the house.

However, Carter held his man at bay and called the police. Patrolman Gus Krueger responded, and Ward was brought to the station. When the husband told his story to Magistrate D. J. Cleland an order was issued to arrest and bring in Mrs. Carter.

Magistrate Relents.

Carter told of the suspicions he had been entertaining for several days. He is employed by the Rock Island lines and told how he for the past several days had started to work as usual but in reality "held off" in order to keep a watch over his home.

The morning he took a revolver with him and, returning about 9 o'clock, found Ward in his home. Both Ward and Mrs. Carter admitted their guilt. Ward told a story, blaming the woman, which won for himself the appellation of "second" from Assistant State's Attorney Edward L. Eagle.

Magistrate Cleland ruled that the man and woman were equally guilty, but claimed that on account of the two children he would dismiss the charge against Mrs. Carter. Protests were made that Ward be bound over to the grand jury and severely punished. After consideration of the merits of the case the magistrate decided on fining Ward. Carter was urged by the magistrate and the assistant state's attorney to take his wife back and maintain a home for his two children. The couple left the station together.

GEORGE MELFORD

"Thus man, for painted Vice, doth 'Everywoman forsake."

Passion and Wealth have failed her in her fervid quest of love. Yet her pilgrimage leads through a great city's pleasures, sensations and pain to that ultimate happy hour for which the heart of Everywoman yearns.

The sum of a lovely woman's experiences—Vivid, colorful, up to the second—lavishly staged with the greatest cast ever shown on the screen—including
